

RIHN FEAST Project seminar | 総合地球環境学研究所 FEAST プロジェクト セミナー

Mapping Urban Agriculture:

Rethinking the power of maps for navigating transdisciplinary research on sustainability

13:00 - 17:30 November 22 (Wed.) 2017

Seminar room 3-4, Research Institute for Humanity and Nature, Kyoto

Photo: 国土地理院

Contact: feast@chikyu.ac.jp

13:00 - 13:05

Seminar introduction

Kazuaki Tsuchiya | Department of Ecosystem Studies, The University of Tokyo

13:10 - 13:50

Mapping agricultural land use change in Kyoto City (Japan) from 2007 to 2017

Christoph D. D. Rupprecht | FEAST Project, RIHN

14:00 - 14:40

Achieving resilience with urban agriculture in cities:

Quantifying vegetable and nutritional self-sufficiency

for food security during post-disaster situations in Tokyo

Giles Sioen | Graduate School of Frontier Sciences, The University of Tokyo

14:50 - 15:30

Research and practice of citizen's gardens suitable for local environment

Kosuke Sakura | Department of Architecture, Shinshu University

15:40 - 16:20

Urban gardening attacking social and environmental sustainability

in suburban areas: Case studies of Kashiwa and Tsukuba, Japan

Naomi Shimpo | Faculty of Life and Environmental Sciences, Tsukuba University

16:30 - 17:30

Discussion

Inter-University Research Institute Corporation National Institutes for the Humanities
Research Institute for Humanity and Nature

FEAST
みんなで作る「いただきます」